ISHFAQ GHANI

Opportunities don’t happen, you create them with dedication and the right skills.

From an early age, I was passionate about technology and web development, but despite my Computer Science background, I lacked real-world experience and industry exposure. I had the drive to succeed but needed the right guidance to transform my skills into a career.

ABOUT US

- I am from Kohat, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, with a deep passion for technology and web development.
- I'm a Computer Science graduate but lacked hands-on experience and struggled to apply my knowledge in real-world scenarios.
- Enrolling in the KPITB & ECI Web Development Training Program was a turning point, equipping me with the expertise to work on real projects.

Success After Training

After completing the course, I secured my different clients and developed a restaurant & hospital website for them. This experience opened doors to freelancing, allowing me to work on more international projects.

In addition to freelancing, I also received two consecutive six-month contracts at the Government College of Technology (GCT) Kohat as a trainer. This gave me valuable industry experience and helped me establish myself in the tech field.

Beyond freelancing and training, the skills I gained from this course allowed me to explore multiple opportunities in web development, freelancing, and industry-based projects, significantly boosting my career.
